A good floorplan uses space wisely. The redesigned Richmond II puts everything thoughtfully in place. Starting with the welcoming foyer. An open staircase to the basement adds to the feeling of spaciousness, and the recessed entry creates a covered front porch. The master suite features a big walk-in closet and oversized shower. It's nicely separated from the other two bedrooms for privacy. (Which are nicely separated from each other.) And the open-concept kitchen means food and conversation are easily shared with whomever is hanging out in the great room.
